TAD'S TID-BITS

(STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE)
The Greatest Fighter He Ever Saw.
Joe Frazier, the old six-day rider, has the greatest fighter, and you can't make him believe his pick isn't right.

"I say that Frank Moran is the greatest fighter I ever saw," said Joe the other evening. "There's a guy who'd fight three wildcats and never think of being hurt. I like heavyweights, continued Joe, and I'm daffy over same heavyweights. I don't care much about those big bums who go out and take one on the kisser and then retire, but I'm for heavies who like the gaff and who fight."

"Look at the fight Moran put up against Fulton. You know he was stopped by Fulton in a couple of rounds some time ago, but he came right back and made that big guy's eyes stick out, didn't he? He fought an uphill battle, but he didn't duck one offer for a pickup. That's a fighter. "Didn't he have Willard up against the ropes and all in during the seventh round of their fight? He took three minutes of pasting and was punched all over that ring, but at the close of the round, his face covered with blood and bruises, he was doing the fighting. That boy has the heart for me."

"I never saw a fighter who loved to fight as much as Moran does. He keeps you bobbing up and down in your chair. There's a thrill in every fight that Moran is in—that's why I like him."

"Did I have any other favorites? Sure. There's Willie Fitzgerald, of Brooklyn. I thought that he was a Jim Dandy. Very few birds could sock harder than Willie, and his heart was as stout as an oak tree."

"Mortie McCue was another of my favorites. I think he was as clever as any light fellow that ever lived. I saw him in any number of fights, and I'll say that I got a kick out of them, too."

"Say," piped Joe, twisting his Kelly a bit, "fighters are great, but the greatest athlete that ever lived is Frank Kramer. Paste that in your spring bonnet."

—Ees Too Begs, Ees Too Begs.

Tom O'Rourke says that the night Descamps watched Fred Fulton box in Paris the Frenchman's eyes stuck out so far you could have hung a hat on them. Descamps loves Carpenter like a brother and is one of the most careful matchmakers in the world.

"I asked him after the bout if he would let Carpenter box Fred," said Tom, smiling. He took off his hat, waved it in the air, walked up and down, saying: "Non! Non! Non! EES TOO BEGS, TOO BEGS!"

Concerning Sam Berger's Punch.
When Jim Jeffries was touring the country under the management of Harry Frazee, he stopped at the Albany Hotel here for the New York show. Sam Berger was Jim's sparring partner and looked to be about the same size as Jeff except for the shoulders.

"One night," says Frazee, "a fellow who was pretty well signed up gave Berger a hard look and edged over toward him, bumping him as he passed. Sam, knowing that the bird was a bit under the weather, didn't pay much attention to him and walked to the elevator to go upstairs. Standing by the lift, the guy bumped Sam again. Sam chipped him on the chin and the stew dropped. He scrambled to his feet as the elevator door opened and both got in. Once again he bothered Sam and once again Sam socked him on the chin. The stew stopped again, but was right up. At the sixth floor Sam got out. The stew, leaning out of the elevator door, yelled as Sam went down the hall."

"Hey, Jeffries, you're a b— of a fighter. Ya can't knock me out, what chance ya got with Johnson?"

Jim Corbett's Ambition.
You know that Jim Corbett is fifty-three years of age, don't you? He looks like John Barrymore on the screen, too. His ambition now is to box four

TELLS ABOUT A CHRONIC TROUBLE

Mr. John O'Brien, 609 N. 15th St., Philadelphia, writes: "I had been troubled for years with chronic constipation, until my whole system poisoned, and I suffered with headache, languor, depression and general impaired health. I began taking Sulphur Tablets and got immediate relief. I am, after many months, still regular in habits, and thank you, and hope they will become known to thousands. etc." If your blood is bad, tongue coated and you are constipated, with stomach and bowel irregularity, get a tube of Sulphur Tablets of your druggist right away. They are made of sulphur, cream of tartar and herbs—so don't accept ordinary "sulphur" tablets.—adv.

U. S. ADMIRAL GIVEN PAPAL DECORATION;
FIRST AMERICAN TO BE ACCORDED HONOR

Cardinal Gibbons and Admiral Benson photographed after the decoration; Benson is wearing the medal.

Admiral William S. Benson, chief of operations of the U. S. navy during the war and now chairman of the shipping board, was recently invested as a knight of the order of the great cross of St. Gregory by Pope Benedict. Cardinal Gibbons conferred the decoration at the cathedral in Baltimore. Admiral Benson is the first American to be so honored.

Had Him Gazed Up.
Robert's mother warned him to be careful not to offend the new boy who had a few days before moved into the flat in the rear, she saying: "He is a bad fighter." Robert replied: "I've tried him already. He has more bluffs in him than the real stuff."

Literature.
True literature, like happiness, is ever a by-product. It is the half-conscious expression of a man greatly engaged in some other undertaking; it is the song of one working.—David Grayson.

Canine Characteristic.
Once in a while you meet a man who is like a dog. He would rather stand still and shiver than to get out and hustle and keep warm.—Cincinnati Enquirer.
